

6 Lessons from the Relationship Wheel

1. When relationships change, they tend to do so in a predictable pattern.
2. Business Relationships are the only ones that run primarily on rules.
3. In successful separations, people move from Negative Intimacies to Business Relationships.
4. Success can come from thinking about how Business Relationships work.
5. There's nothing about a failed Intimate Relationship that means parents can't succeed in their Business Relationships.
6. Give yourself and your co-parent credit; it takes some time.